

UNUSUALLY LARGE AUDIENCE

Attended Bible Day Exercises at the Baptist Church on Sunday.

An audience that filled to overflowing the Baptist church, attended the Bible Day exercises Sunday evening. A collection of $17.46, which was taken up during the latter part of the exercises, was for the purpose of buying bibles for use in the missionary fields. The exercises, in which the Sunday-school children took the principal part, were interesting, and thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.

There was no service Sunday evening at either the Methodist or Presbyterian churches, the Methodists purposely omitting their service because of the exercises at the Baptist church. This accounted to some extent for the size of the audience, which was one of the largest ever assembled here, the church being full and many standing outside. The program was exceptionally well rendered considering that a short time was occupied in preparing for the exercises. One very pleasing and attractive feature was the beautiful floral decorations. The program which was rendered was as follows: Prelude—Miss Ree Willis. Song—School. Prayer—R. O. Willis. Address—Superintendent C. E. Lightfoot.

Prominent Physician Dead.

Hawesville, Ky., June 17.—This town is in sorrow tonight over the death of Dr. C. C. Norman, the oldest and most prominent physician in the place and one of the oldest in the county. He came to Hawesville twenty-five years ago and built up a large practice, which he retained until he was attacked by droupy a few months ago.

KILLS GERMS OF CATARRH

Myomel Goes to the Root of the Disease and makes Astonishing Cures.

Catarrh cannot be cured by the use of pills, liquid medicines and so-called system tonics. Under such treatment the germs of the disease will still live in the air passages and increase and multiply.

Myomel is the only scientific and thorough way to cure catarrh. Killing the germs in the air passages, destroys the blood with the oxygen, destroys the microbes in the blood and effectively drives from the system all traces of catarrhal poison.

Thousands of testimonials have been given as to the astonishing cures made by this remedy.

Mrs. La Ronda, 709 Western Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I believe Myomel saved my life. I am better now than I have been in thirty years. Many doctors, both in England and France, treated me for catarrh, but I was not cured until I used Myomel."

Probably the strongest evidence that can be offered as to the powers of Myomel to cure catarrh is the fact that Scott & Haynes will agree to refund the money if any say Myomel has not cured you.

The complete Myomel outfit costs but $1.00, contains sufficient capsules, dropper and sufficient Myomel to last several weeks. This will effect a cure to ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then extra outfits of Myomel can be obtained for 50c.

CHARMED BY "MISS BETSY."

P. Brown and W. Nichol, moonshiners of Westview, are captured.

Because they couldn't resist the charms of "Miss Betsy," Deputy United States Marshal Nichols' trusty gun, Messrs. Philip Brown and William Nichol, alleged moonshiners, of Westview, this county, are in jail at Owensboro to await the "letting of the federal court in November. Brown and Nichol were captured at Guston, Meade county, Friday by Marshal Nichols.

In the early part of May, it will be remembered, Marshal Nichols captured Dick Brown, a famous moonshiner, at Mook, this county, at the point of a gun, after he had eluded escape from revenue officers for years. Brown was jailed and it was thought this would stop violations of the revenue laws in his section. Last week the officer went back and learned that Philip Brown, a brother of Dick, and William Nichol were making and selling whiskey without a license. When the men heard he was coming they fled to Guston, it is said. When he attempted to arrest them, Nichol, it is alleged, raised a chair with the determination of assaulting Officer Nichols. A drawn revolver made Nichols change his intention.

The men were taken to Louisville Saturday for their examination, trial before United States Commissioner Cassin. Brown waived examination and was held to the grand jury. The case against Nichol was continued until this week.

Swallow & Markle June 26.

The Swallow & Markle floating palace snows will play here Monday, June 26. The show this year is on a grander scale than ever before. Many new features have been added. Besides presenting a very funny three-act musical comedy they also present a large array of vaudeville performers, also a large chorus of beautiful girls in numerous changes of elegant costumes in drills, marches, etc. A number of new pictures will be shown on the moving picture machine. The marine band and double orchestra are well worth hearing and create favorable impressions everywhere they appear. Every one invited to visit the theatre during the afternoon, when the boat will be open for inspection.

Accidents at Tar Springs.

Three men were more or less severely injured in accidents at Tar Springs the latter part of last week. Friday afternoon a scaffold fell, precipitating Jas. Casey and Jack Tindie, carpenters at work on a cottage, to the ground. Casey's leg was broken in two places between the knee and ankle and Tindie's ankle was sprained. The former was brought to his home here and his injuries were dressed by Dr. Owen. Saturday morning, while W. T. Halliday, proprietor of the Springs, was superintending the work of building the cottage, a hammer in the hands of one of the carpenters was sprained and accidentally struck Mr. Halliday in the chin, badly bruising and cutting the flesh and knocking out a tooth.

Important School Questions.

Among the important questions which will come before the Kentucky Educational Association meeting at Mammoth Cave June 21, 22 and 23, are the following:

It will make an effort to mold public opinion in favor of certain educational reforms, the most important of which is the establishment of State normal schools in Kentucky for the better training of teachers.

It will on Thursday, June 22, suspend the work of the association and resolve itself into a mass convention for the organization of a citizens' conference, or "educational improvement commission," to be composed largely of representative citizens who are to take the lead in the matter of an educational awakening in Kentucky.

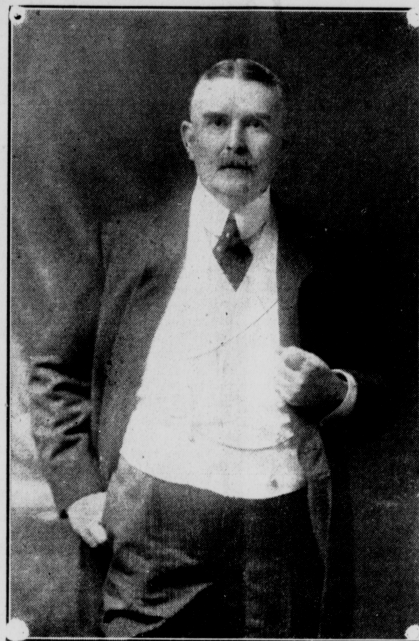

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors, and especially the nurses, Mrs. Zimmerman, of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Dunn, of Cloverport, Ky., for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our dear wife and loving mother, Webster Taylor and daughters.

Sprinkle Tobacco and Pool It.

The Equity house was crowded the first part of this week in spite of the dry weather, most of the tobacco coming from the lower part of the county. Not having a season and wishing to pool, they came to the Equity by sprinkling.—Hawesville Plaindealer.

LOGAN C. MURRAY HELD UP AND ROBBED BY HIGHWAYMEN IN LOUISVILLE SUNDAY.

Logan C. Murray, president of the American National Bank and one of the best known citizens of Louisville, was held up and robbed last night by two highwaymen on the south side of Hill street between Third and Fourth.

In addition to losing his watch, chain and a considerable sum of money, Mr. Murray had a very narrow escape from death at the hands of the robbers, who were evidently desperate men and who handled their revolvers with a recklessness that caused Mr. Murray to doubt if he could avoid being killed.—Monday's Louisville Post.

STORM SWEEPS THE COUNTY; RAIN HEAVY AS EVER KNOWN; BIG DAMAGE AT IRVINGTON.

One of the most severe wind and rainstorms ever known in this part of the State swept over northern and eastern sections of Breckinridge county Monday afternoon and evening. There was some damage to crops but at Irvington especially, property also was damaged. In effect and precipitation the rain at Irvington was almost equal to a cloudburst and was the heaviest ever known there. The worst part of the storm was confined to a radius of a few miles around Irvington though it was quite severe here and at other points along the Henderson Route.

At Irvington a number of houses were lifted from their foundations and portions of the roofs on the Irvington flour mill, the Henderson Route coal chute and other structures were blown off. A pond in the town overflowed and flooded a number of houses, the occupants being compelled to move out. The heavy rain caused a washout on the Henderson Route track and delayed east-bound train No. 44.

In the Dowell neighborhood, out from Irvington and towards Brandenburg, the storm was very severe. Many trees and hundreds of feet of fencing were blown down, growing crops were blown flat to the ground and the country was literally flooded.

The telephone companies did not suffer much from the storm except at Irvington, where the wires were broken by trees falling on them.

The wind played havoc in Cloverport and vicinity with fruit

John Allen Murray Reporter

On City Daily at Seventeen.

John Allen Murray, formerly local correspondent of the Breckinridge Democrat and the Louisville Post, has accepted a position as reporter on the Louisville Times. He went to Louisville last Wednesday to assume his duties, assisting materially in getting out large editions of the Times during the Confederate reunion. Shortly after accepting the place he was given the position of church editor.

Though only seventeen years of age, Mr. Murray has been engaged in newspaper work for about three years. As correspondent of the Democrat and the Post, he has rendered valuable service, contributing timely and well-written news and feature "stories" to both papers. Besides being thus actively engaged he has taken, by correspondence, a full course in journalism from the National Press Association, of Indianapolis, from which he has received a diploma.

Mr. Murray is very well pleased with his position. He has fewer working hours than the reporter on the average daily, and will be off duty on Sunday, which he will spend at his home here. His sister, Miss Donald Murray, has been appointed correspondent here of the Democrat and Post as his successor.

Mr. Murray is an indefatigable newspaperman, knows news when he sees it and knows how to put it in a readable and attractive shape. Newspapers in large cities are continually reaching out to the small towns for writers versed in country journalism, as is Mr. Murray, this being the most desirable material from which to make their reportorial and editorial staffs, and with a fine training like his, his chances for success in metropolitan journalism are most excellent.

Miss Reid's Commencement.

Hardinsburg, Ky., June 20.—The commencement exercises of Miss Reid's private school were held at the opera house on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week.

The second evening's feature of the first evening was the election of a medal given by Miss Reid. All the contestants rendered their recitations excellently. Miss Virginia Hensley was awarded the medal by the committee.

The second evening's program was as good as the first. That all the pupils acquitted themselves well both evenings was the unanimous opinion of all who attended.

The commencement was, in every way, a decided success, creditable alike to teacher and pupils.

This is Miss Reid's second year here. Next year she will teach in the Elizabethtown school. Her work here has been highly commended by the patrons of the school, and the community generally. She is a conscientious teacher, who understands the rare art of successfully imparting knowledge to others, and the trustees of the school give her up reluctantly.

Loath to Give up Rev. Lewis.

Irvington, Ky., June 20.—(Special.)—The Rev. J. T. Lewis, who, sometime ago, resigned the pastorate of the Irvington Baptist church, will preach a farewell sermon on next Sunday. Rev. Lewis has served this church most faithfully for six or seven years and the people of his congregation, as well as others, loath to give him up. He feels that he has been called to another and far better field of labor, and the very best wishes of his Christian friends attend him and his excellent wife.

A Great Institution.

We have pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Southern Normal School and Bowling Green Business University, which appears in this issue of our paper. This institution has an established reputation, unexcelled facilities, magnificent buildings, reasonable rates, faculty of specialties, modern methods, splendid equipments, complete organization, a Christian body of students, a fixed policy and it is located in one of the most beautiful and healthful cities in the South.

Persons desiring a catalog and journal should address H. H. Cherry, President, Bowling Green, Ky.

Full House Expected.

It is expected that a full house will greet the play, "Sweet Lavender," when it is presented by local talent at Hardinsburg tomorrow evening. The play will be given for the benefit of the Cloverport public school library. It is understood that some many from Glendene, and other points will attend.

March Under Their Old Flags. First Time Since Civil War.

Louisville, Ky., June 16.—Marching shoulder to shoulder as valiantly, if not as vigorously, as they did in the days of 61 to 65 the survivors of the Army of Confederacy passed in review through the streets of Louisville today.

Of all the events of the Confederate reunion this was the most spectacular and the one that appealed most to the spectators. There is not a veteran left who is not gray haired and stooped.

There were twenty-five bands in line, but they played only Southern airs, "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "Maryland, My Maryland," "Old Kentucky Home" and "The Old North State."

At Fourth and Broadway the veterans commander-in-chief saluted one another as they passed.

Borne reverently before the veterans were the tattered battle flags they had followed through so many bloody fields. Some have just been returned by the Government, for others the proud boast is that "the colors were never captured."

Many of the flags are only shreds, shot and shell having torn them to pieces.

In all about 5,000 men were in line and fully 75,000 people saw the parade as it passed through the streets.

Dr. Lightfoot Buys Interest.

Dr. F. L. Lightfoot has bought Mrs. Mary Oelze's one-third interest in the Star Roller flour mill. Myrick McGarock, of near town, who bought a third interest from Eugene Haynes, will leave his farm and be the miller for the firm, which is composed also of Mr. Haynes, who has retained a one-third interest in the property.

Hottest Days of Year.

Saturday and Sunday were the hottest days of the year here, ninety-six degrees being the highest temperature attained Saturday and ninety-seven degrees Sunday. Because of the extreme heat and humidity Sunday the suffering over the country was fearful, especially in the large cities. It was one of the worst days in years in Kentucky.

REV. LEWIS LEAVES

IRVINGTON CHURCH.

Accepts Call to Baptist Church Here After Pastorale of Six Years--Has One Other Charge.

Rev. J. T. Lewis, of Irvington, has declined a unanimous call from the Baptist church at that place and has accepted a call to the Cloverport Baptist church. He resigned as pastor of the Baptist church at Irvington in April but his resignation was not accepted. Beginning Sunday, June 9, he will preach here on the second and third Sundays in each month and at Stephensport on the first and third Sundays. He had the charge at Stephensport in connection with the one at Irvington.

Regarding the resignation of Rev. Lewis as pastor of the Irvington Baptist church the News, in the issue of April 26, said: "Rev. J. T. Lewis tendered his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church at Irvington last Sunday. Rev. Lewis has been pastor of that church for six years and feels that he has served his time and wants to give place to some one who can do more good, he says. This action on the part of Rev. Lewis came as a shock to the members of the church and the community in general, who are very much attached to him and his work. It is doubtful whether the church will give him up."

So pleased were the members of the church with Rev. Lewis and his earnest, faithful work among them that, as has been stated, they did not accept his resignation, and gave him a unanimous call on June 10. During the same week he received the call from the church here and gave his answer last week in favor of the latter.

As pastor of the Baptist church here, Rev. Lewis succeeds Rev. S. O. Christian, who resigned on May 1. The members of the church are glad that he has accepted their call and that, of his two charges, Cloverport and Stephensport, he has chosen the former as his place of residence.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Uterine Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that American women are nervous? How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous. It seems as if I should fly!" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that almost all of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman.

Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability, spirits easily affected, that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost every night."

"I had three doctors and got no better, and it was a burden to me. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me."

"I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

haircloth upholstery, its green-encased wax flowers and tray of faded photographs of the "kin." The country parlor is gloomy enough and useless enough, but it possesses the negative virtue of being closed most of the time, and then in midsummer it is "a feasible place" for an afternoon nap, because no one ever thinks of looking in the parlor to find someone to drive the cows out of the garden, and it is cool, dim, musty and silent. The city parlor is more annoying than its melancholy country cousin because it confronts you more frequently. It has an air of being dressed up that makes you nervous. A few books and magazines, even a newspaper or two and a pipe-rack give a room an air of every-day coziness that soothes the nerves and makes for comfort and companionship.

The heavy mahogany of the rural parlor and the spider-legged gilt tete-a-tete of the city parlor, which seems as stiff as the word appears in print, can well be spared. The library or living room is good enough for ordinary modern folks.—Louisville Times.

Your Home Paper.

"Your home paper never loses interest in you." To this, possibly, you have not given a passing thought.

No matter if you like the newspaper man or if he likes you, if he is true to his profession and publishes a paper for the people he allows no personal matters or petty spites to interfere with news gathering.

He may meet you as a stranger, yet along with his best friends, chronicles your success and sorrows wherever you may be, and those who would otherwise forget you are ever and anon reminded of your existence by an item in your home paper. Others may deceive, and defraud you, but your home paper never forgets you.

Possibly you do not deserve decent treatment by the paper, but you get it just the same, and if it should at any time say things to cause your fur to turn the wrong way, study a moment and see if it has not at various times said many nice things for which you failed to give it credit.—EX.

A BIG VICTORY FOR STANDARD OIL CO.

Case From Breckenridge Circuit Court Reversed by Appellate Court--Other Cases Affirmed.

In affirming judgment of the Anderson, Henry, Jessamine, Lyon and Trigg Circuit Courts in the cases of the Commonwealth against the Standard Oil Company, in which counties numerous indictments were returned charging violations of the statute requiring peddler's license to retail oil in wagons, the Court of Appeals holds that each unlicensed sale does not constitute a separate offense; that the offense consists of operating the wagon without a license for the license year involved, and is, therefore, a continuing one which may not be split up by separate indictments covering the same period of time; that the plea of former conviction made to the numerous indictments was a valid plea where the time was covered by the former indictment. The Court further holds, in a case of the Standard Oil Company against the Commonwealth, that the Henry Circuit Court, the Court holds that the Commonwealth may again indict for an offense occurring after the date named in the indictment upon which conviction was secured, where the company continued to operate without a license.

Still another case, from Breckenridge Circuit Court, the Court holds that the Commonwealth may institute a penal action against the company under section 11, of the Criminal Code, for the recovery of penalty for failure to take out license.

The several opinions were handed down by Judge Barker, the whole court concurring. The ruling announced is of much importance, and a big victory for the Standard Oil Company. More than twelve hundred indictments against this company charging failure to take out peddler's license for retail wagons is engaged in operating over Kentucky, have been returned in several judicial districts, most of them in the Twelfth district, the counties of Bourbon, Scott, Woodford and Franklin. Under the decision of the Court there can be but one conviction in each instance.

The Breckenridge County Case.
In the Breckenridge county case, in which the judgment of the court below was reversed and the cause remanded for further proceedings, the Commonwealth instituted a penal action under section 11 of the Criminal Code to recover of the Standard Oil Company a penalty for retailing oil without a license so to do. A general demurrer was sustained by the court to the petition. The Court of Appeals in reversing says in part:

"The language of the petition clearly shows that the proceeding is under the section 4224 of the Statutes, requiring peddlers' license; it is in substance the same as the indictments in the various cases between the same parties this day decided, and is subject to the same principles of recovery. The difference is only as to the form of action adopted. The demurrer should have been overruled."

Hope of Russia in People.
St. Petersburg, June 15.—The liberal newspapers are taking the decision of the government to make peace if terms possible of acceptance are offered as a surrender, and are following up their advantage by redoubting their demands for a representative assembly arguing that the bureaucracy which has proved its incompetence to make war successfully is equally incapable of conducting a creditable peace. The Russ, now the leader of the constitutional papers, declares that the government, without the people's support, is impotent to continue the war, and will be compelled to accept any terms. Only a national assembly, it is insisted, can now save the situation because only with the sanction of the people can exorbitant conditions be successfully resisted. The Russ adds:

"The mere mention of peace has aroused the people who profoundly distrust the government's ability to cope with the problem by mail and telegraph. The committee of ministers is flooded with petitions for the assembling of a zemsky-zobor to pass on the peace terms. All recent classes of society are unanimously of the opinion that the present regime is done for and that we must begin the history of a new Russia—Russia of the people."

Japan Not a Heathen Nation.
Walter J. Ballard in New York Sun.

Do you not think that to Japan really belongs the credit for the reforms, few as they are, promised recently to the people of Russia, particularly the Polish subjects of the Czar?

If Japan had not, by its bravery and ability, given the Russian Government such a setback and scare in the Far East, is there any likelihood that agitation of sufficient strength would have arisen in Russia to compel these promises of reform?

On missionary and other platforms we have for years been told of the "heathen Japanese," and even now some complain that the Christian world is allowing a "heathen" (so-called) nation, of comparatively small size, to read the riot act to a "Christian" (so-called) nation, three times as large in population and many times as large in area and resources. The day has come to drop all talk about Japan being a heathen nation. Japan's treatment of the Russian prisoners and the Russian wounded proves beyond question that she is no more a heathen nation than is the United States. It is not the nominal acceptance of Christianity which decides the point, but the way a nation acts toward its conquered foes and other nations in times of trial and excitement.

A heathen is supposed to be cruel and revengeful. Not a single fact has come to notice since the war began indicating cruelty or desire for revenge on the part of Japan. Two thousand years ago it was wisely said: "By their fruits ye shall know them." Judging from that point of view, and ignoring Japan's many successes in the war, we are justified in claiming for her an equal place in humane action with the leading Christian nations of the world.

BLACK DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than the old Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so beneficial that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

"The ideal of elemental justice meted out to every man is the ideal we should keep ever before us. It seems now, from all appearances, that there will be enough wheat to give every man, woman and child a biscuit at a reasonable price.

MR. ROOSEVELT is the man that knows what to do, when to do, and how to do all things at the right time. It is just good common sense rightly trained.

"Away down South in Dixie"—no sweeter song was ever sung and the young lady who sang it in Louisville last week was the sweetest of all singers. Her voice thrills us to this moment.

LOUISVILLE is the pride of every Kentuckian. The way she does things, the way she treats people within her gates, thrills every heart that has a spark of state pride. All honor to Louisville.

From New York City to Albany, N. Y., is 143 miles, about the same distance it is from Louisville to Henderson. The New York Central's "flyer" makes this run in 160 minutes. Now think of a train on the Henderson Route flying through the air at this rate. But we shall see it on the Henderson Route before many years. Jim Randall wouldn't want an easier job.

It is more honorable to fail in a good cause than to prosper in a doubtful one. We know that the ideal newspaper is apt, like the good, to die young. But what kind of fun in life does an editor have who cannot, consistently, say good words of a man because, forsooth, it might harm the party that furnishes pay for an editor? It is true independent editors have a mighty hard time and get called "mug-wump," "lukewarm," etc., but they can look the devil in the eye and say good things of any man or party that deserves them. They can sleep with nothing to worry them but the paper bill.—Big Stone Gap Post.

THERE is one thing that Louisville must do, if she would keep her name great and glorious, and that is to rid her streets, by-ways and hedges of the common thief and burglar. There are too many men, good men, and good citizens, being waylaid and held up within her borders. It has a bad impression. It keeps people away. When we hear of men like Logan Murray being held up and robbed it sets us to thinking. It brings the matter right home to us. Most any of us who walk the streets of Louisville are liable to the same fate. Louisville is our home city. It ought to be the cleanest, the purest and the best governed city in the land.

THE NEWS knows very little about the new railroad that is coming from Madisonville, other than what has been printed in our columns. The people of Hartford and of Fordville are very much enthused over the prospect and they believe it is a sure thing. We know that the right of way has been secured from Fordville to Victoria, because we have talked with several farmers who have given it. Mr. James Ford, of Hartford, is securing these rights of way, is putting his money into it, and says there is no question but what it will be built. He has a thousand acres of the best coal lands in the state, through which the road will run, and is directly interested. It seems to us that it would be the right and proper thing for Cloverport to look into this matter and lend a helping hand. Now is the time to strike. Cloverport needs this road and she ought to make at least an effort to get it.

JESSE M. HOWARD shipped from Glendene Monday a car load of the finest lambs that ever went out of Breckenridge county. Mr. Howard raised a part of these lambs on his own farm, buying a part from his neighbors. Thirty-nine were bought from Jesse Moorman, averaging eighty pounds. Mr. Moorman is a very successful sheep raiser, as will be seen from the following: Mr. Howard informs us that from forty ewes Mr. Moorman realized this year in lambs and wool $269. This is an average of $6.30 to the ewe, and is a splendid record. It beats raising tobacco, corn or wheat. In fact, there is no product of the farm that pays better than sheep, when properly cared for. What Mr. Moorman has done can be done by any farmer in Breckenridge county. The only drawback to the raising of sheep is the dogs. If we had fewer dogs we would have more lambs. The way to get rid of the sheep-killing dog is to put a tax on him. And the farmers ought to see to it that our next representative is pledged to have such an act passed by the next Legislature. A sheep-killing dog has no place in a civilized community. The way to get rid of him is to tax him out, just like other progressive states are doing.

The peacefulness and quietude of Cloverport as a community, gauged by the paucity of criminal trials in police court so far this year, is certainly exceptional. Some weeks, as is the case this week, there has been only one criminal case on the docket, while there has been none other weeks. It was just the opposite last year, the criminal docket being an unusually large one and the fines, in the aggregate, amounting to more than during any previous year in the history of the court.

Louisville Market. (Reported by the Central Livestock Exchange, central Stockyards.)
Louisville, Ky., June 16--(Cattle).--Receipts very light, only 113 head on sale today. There was a good attendance of buyers on the yards this morning and they seemed more anxious for cattle than last week. NEWS AND VIEWS ABOUT TOBACCO.

Reduction of Acreage Says Organ of A. S. of E-Barretts' Plan of Action-Big Prices are Paid.

(Up-To-Date Farming.)
Conflicting reports from various sources do not give much satisfaction to those who want to know the facts regarding the acreage of tobacco. The West-Tobacco Journal declares that no reduction will be made, as prices have been unusually high. The farmers in the districts that are fairly well organized declare that in those sections a reduction of at least 15 per cent. can be counted on. From our own correspondence we have no reason to believe the 1905 acreage will exceed that of 1904 in any place, and we have it from good authority that there will be some reduction in the "Black Patch" of Kentucky and Tennessee. Heavy rains and cut worms have done their usual amount of damage, and the season of planting was generally delayed.

All who are interested in the work planned by the organization for the purpose of controlling markets should read carefully the plan proposed by Mr. T. T. Barrett, of Henderson, Ky. Some plan will be adopted at the Owensboro convention, and we invite discussion along this line, so, if possible, the delegates may consider the matter intelligently and act wisely.

From recent market reports it appears that considerable tobacco held by farmers is going on the market in bad order. Conditions on the farms are not generally favorable to keeping tobacco in warm weather. Farmers should make a study of this, and, as far as possible, arrange to keep their tobacco at home until sold, provided they can keep it in perfect order. Otherwise they should have it prized and stored on some plan similar to that suggested by Mr. Barrett. For some time it will be found necessary to store the largest part of tobacco grown, either on the farm or in Equity warehouses.

Farmers' Prices Exceeded.
From The New Era, of Caldwell Co., Ky., we glean the following: "Forty thousand pounds of loose tobacco was sold in Princeton markets at very satisfactory prices. The crop of T. W. Wood, 1,320 pounds, sold for an average price of $12 per cent. This is the highest price ever paid for loose tobacco in Princeton. Another crop of 3,000 pounds sold for $9.75 per cent. all round."

Princeton was among the first A. S. of E. points in the dark tobacco district.

Mr. Barrett's Plan in Detail.
In a recent letter, Mr. Barrett, a prominent farmer and tobacco grower and member of the A. S. of E. of Henderson, Ky., submits the following:

"The plan that appears most practical for the present is to divide each county or section producing a certain class of tobacco to choose an executive committee composed of one member from each magisterial district, and delegate to them the authority to make all arrangements for receiving, classifying, storing and selling the tobacco, and to negotiate loans and advancements necessary."

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because of its deceptive nature. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy have often the result of kidney disease. Kidney trouble is always the forerunner of the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickly by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times at night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, by sending a few cents to the free by mail, Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

"Each farmer's crop to be valued according to its quality and condition when received at the factory, and he given a statement, specifying the amount and value of each class delivered, and a record made on the books at the warehouse. Each farmer thus becomes a stockholder in the business to the value of tobacco delivered by him; and when the tobacco is sold, receives his proportion of the proceeds. Thus:

'A' delivers 10,000 pounds rated at 6 cents, average; 'B' delivers 10,000 pounds of a lower grade, rated at 4 cents, average. 'A' has credit for $600 and 'B' for $400. The tobacco is worth an average price of 5 cents, or $1,000 for the crops. Now, if the committee sells that tobacco at an average of 8 cents, or $1,800 for the crop, the percentage of profit is 60 per cent. and for every dollar that each 'A' and 'B' have credited to them on the books, they are to receive $16.00 cash, less expenses. If sold in the open lot, the profits to be pro-rated among all the holders, and if a surplus is to be carried over, it will be carried by all instead of a few. Each district could own its own storage house, and buyers could purchase in person or by sample, and sales would be made direct. This will effectively prevent manufacturers from laying in large supplies at low prices. (The committees from different sections can meet at the annual meeting, to confer together and adopt a minimum scale of prices.) Ed. Such a plan would materially shorten the distance between producer and consumer to the benefit of both.—Thos. T. Barrett."

Cuban Diarrhoea.
U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, and our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by Short & Haynes.

He will be taken to Louisville for trial and will have a charge of moonshining to answer before he gets through with the court.—Owensboro Inquirer.

It is no secret that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes Dr. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at Short & Haynes drug store.

To Furnish Anything You Want.

A salt water bath, a shave and while you sleep, your clothes sponged and pressed, are new features of railroading inaugurated Sunday on the Lake Shore railway. Free stenographer and typewriter service is also provided, and a valet and maid are at the service. In putting the twentieth Century Limited on the twenty-four hour basis, between Chicago and New York, the Lake Shore takes care of the passengers in a way entirely new in railroading, the trains being equipped as above. Letters dictated on the train are mailed on route as the train lies along at a mile a minute or less.

Independents Get Left Out.

Washington, June 14.—The protest of the independent tobacco manufacturers against the award of the contract for smoking and chewing tobacco for the navy to the firm of Butler & Boshier, of Richmond, will not be of any avail. The announcement of the award will be made today or tomorrow. A number of independent manufacturers called to see Paymaster General Harris in regard to the matter, and not receiving the assurances from him which they wished, went to see the Secretary. Mr. Morton told them the department could not undertake to withhold the contract from a firm simply because it was in the trust. This ended the matter, according to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

Can't Do It That Way.

Eight farmers in western Kentucky hit upon the idea of forming a company and selling their tobacco on consignment to a tobacco company, in order to avoid the payment of the internal revenue tax of six cents a pound. The commissioner of internal revenue holds that such a company would not be brought within the exemption applying to farmers and growers of tobacco, and therefore the tobacco would be subject to the regular tax. The commissioner was asked for a ruling on the subject by Collector Franks, of Owensboro, who has been approached by the representative of the proposed partnership and asked as to its relation to the internal revenue laws. It was explained that the farmers proposed to form a partnership for the raising and sale of tobacco as cured on the farm, and not manufactured in any way. The firm was to have an agent who would solicit orders and send the tobacco in separate packages to each customer. One person was to be named as manager, and he, after the deduction of his salary, was to divide the profits equally among the partners.

Cabbage Snake Harmless.

The department of agriculture has issued an interesting bulletin which explodes the old story that cabbage snout worms, or hair worms, are poisonous and when eaten in cooked cabbage are the cause of death. The cabbage snake horror was in many respects like the kissing bug craze. It originated in the fall of 1903 by the discovery of the so-called cabbage snake, and species of hair-worm, in the heads of cabbage in Tennessee, South Carolina and Louisiana. Rumors of persons being poisoned by eating cabbage affected by this hair-worm were magnified by the yellow journals into a genuine scare pervaded the heads of cabbage-eaters all over the country.

The result was that the cabbage-growing industry was paralyzed, and the falling off of custom was the severest blow the truck gardeners of the country ever experienced. For years erroneous reports, evidently inflated in many cases by unscrupulous persons, the scare soon became widespread, causing general fear of poisoning from Virginia and West Virginia southward, through the same States as were first affected in 1903 into Florida, Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma and Colorado, especially, and there was scarcely a State in the union where it was not felt.

The department of agriculture, after long series of experiments in feeding the cabbage snake worms raw and cooked to rabbits, guinea pigs and other animals, and in injecting the juice of the worms hypodermically, declares that none of the reports has any foundation, in fact, and that the worms are perfectly harmless. The length of the cabbage snake, the department says, varies from two to nine inches instead of nine feet, as some of the sensational newspapers have reported.

Conference at Washington.

Washington, June 15.—Washington will be the scene of the peace negotiations between Russia and Japan. Japan refused to go to Europe and Russia was unwilling to meet Japan in the East. Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister, brought to the President this morning Japan's refusal to go to Europe, and this will be formally communicated to Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, when he calls by appointment at the White House this afternoon. Upon learning of Japan's unwillingness to go to Europe, Russia acquiesced and joined Japan in the request that Washington be selected.

The announcement came in the form of an official statement issued by Secretary Loeb by direction of the President. The statement follows: "When the two Governments were unable to agree upon either the Peace Conference, the President suggested the Peace Conference at the White House. The President has accordingly formally notified both Governments that Washington will be so selected."

Dying of Famine

is, in its torment, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Prompt relief and cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at Short & Haynes drug store, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Tobacco Crop Outlook.

Washington, June 15.—From the report on the condition of the tobacco crop issued today by the Department of Agriculture information is gathered from 1,500 special correspondents of an increase of the tobacco acreage in the burley district composed of counties in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, which is estimated at 25 per cent.

Regarding the burley district in Kentucky the report says that the increase is much larger than 25 per cent, and a reason given is that since the price of thoroughbred horses has decreased many breeders have plowed up grass land and planted them in tobacco.

The department adds: "Reports as to conditions of plants, the character of the season, transplanting, etc., very greatly, but on the whole it may be said that the plants are good and plentiful, the season early in some localities, a month earlier than usual, and transplanting well advanced. Conditions in the rest of the tobacco district of Kentucky and Tennessee are reported generally favorable."

A Bad Scarce.

Some day you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach diseases, such as headache, biliousness; constipation, etc. Guaranteed at Short & Haynes drug store. Only 15c. Try them.

Mirror Not For Blackburn.

The Elizabethtown Mirror gives what it declares is a true report of the "Grand Oration" given Joe Blackburn at Elizabethtown. It declares that the crowd was very small, "that except when the speaker scored the Republicans the silence was so great that it could be 'cut with a knife,' and so on. The Mirror predicts that Blackburn will be out of the running in Hardin county in a few months."

ARMIES OF SOUTH MEET IN REUNION.

In Gay Dress Louisville Receives
And Entertains Confederates—
Gen. Lee's Eloquent Address.

Louisville, Ky., June 14.—For the second time in five years the United Confederate Veterans have gathered for their annual reunion within the gates of Louisville.

No more sincere tribute to the hospitality of Kentucky's metropolis could have been paid than this, and certainly no warmer welcome was ever accorded the "boys in gray" than they received today.

Louisville has never worn a gay dress on any occasion than that which she has donned in honor of the Confederates. Practically every building in the city, except those in the remote outskirts, is decorated, and even in the suburbs and the byways, the stars and bars have been flung to the breeze.

Like a cloud of gray veterans and visitors have poured into the city from all sections of the South and West. Every train brought in camps and parts of camps, until at noon there were representatives here from practically every one of the 1,400 camps in the U. C. V.

While all efforts to arrive at exact number of veterans and visitors are necessarily futile, good estimates are that the visitors are not less than 15,000. Of this number fully 6,000 are Confederate veterans.

The fifteenth reunion was called to order in the Horse Show building by Col. Bennett H. Young, Rev. J. William Jones delivered the invocation.

In behalf of the commonwealth, Gov. Beckham delivered an address of welcome.

"It is my pleasure," he said, "to speak for the commonwealth of Kentucky and to bid you a hearty and cordial welcome to the metropolis of our state. Over forty years ago, when you came here during the civil conflict, there were many Kentuckians who were ready to meet you with shot and shell, but now if there are any shots to be cast at you in Kentucky they will be 'half-shots'."

When Gen. Joseph Wheeler entered the building the immense crowd stood and cheered for many minutes while the band played "Dixie."

In response to the addresses of welcome of Gov. Beckham, Mayor Grainger and others, Gen. Stephen D. Lee, commander of the United BOOZE OR MEDICINE?

Which will you have? If a woman suffers from one of the delicate ailments which to your sex it will be well to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only remedy advised for such maladies which is absolutely free from intoxicating liquors and other harmful agents. The good you get from its use is not the delusive exhilaration from a tipping beverage, from which the system reacts into a condition than before. But its benefits are in manifesting its bracing and purifying action, but its benefits are the less positive and, best of all, they are lasting. It's an honest medicine—not a beverage.

Confederate Veterans, spoke in part as follows:

Gen. Lee's Eloquent Address.

The welcome of the Kentuckian is like himself—large, wholesome, generous and free. He has a heart like his mighty Mammoth Cave; he takes everybody into it, and looks around for more guests. We are lost in your hospitality, and will never find ourselves again until we get out of Kentucky.

The last time we came to Louisville we were impressed that this was not a dry city; and, although this time the rains have not descended, or the floods fallen in the same way, we find the city is still wet in places, with a certain ancient juice which is supposed to be good for veterans. Louisville has always been dear to the South. We have not forgotten the ministrations of her noble women in war times, when they were, indeed, angels of mercy. Nor have we forgotten the dreadful days when yellow fever stalked abroad in our land. The gates of this fearless and merciful city were never shut to the cry of distress.

Kentucky is a name to charm with. It is a land good for horses, and better for men, and best for women. A Kentucky woman simply exhausts the subject. After you have seen her, you wonder why there are any others. The only women who ever disgraced the nation, but existed from their state, with nothing to link them to but the high claim of principles for which their fathers fought before them; with everything already lost that men count precious, and a fortune and swiftly falling bow before them they hurried to the aid with a stubborn courage that never knew defeat. We were fighting for our homes and firesides; but these Kentuckians were fighting for us, because they loved our cause better than their own.

It is impossible for Confederates standing on Kentuckian soil not to remember that from this commonwealth came the two leaders of the contending nations. Here was born the patient frontier lawyer, trained in the hard school of adversity, who in the hour of fate was to stand at the focus of the world, who was to give to history a new ideal of greatness, and to die at last like Caesar at the zenith of his fame, sealing his immortality with a death whose tragic pathos will move the hearts of all men. Here also was born the pure and stainless gentleman, who stood at the helm of the sinking Confederacy, the one, and only ruler of a brave people, who failed in a mighty struggle for constitutional liberty, as every gentleman understood it—the chained captive at Fort Sumner, the exile, the gray-haired historian—defending to the last the cause of his people—the best beloved of all Kentucky's mighty sons. Not Clay in the hour of his glory; not Lincoln in the hour of his passing, were ever dowered with the love and devotion which were given to this brave old man whose white soul was the mark for every shaft that passed over the people of the South. The South wrapped him living in the mantle of her love, and poured upon his tomb an offering of tears she never gave to Washington. And when her heart shall at last cease to beat, there will be found graven upon it the name of Jefferson Davis.

Consider the question is asked why the old veterans gather at their annual reunions. We have no pensions to expect. There is no political preference we can look for. We come together because we love the past, because our lives have been linked together by a great experience—the richest, deepest experience that has come to any generation of Americans; by a common story so rich in heroism, in sacrifice, in patriotism, that everything else we remember grows cheap when we think of the Confederacy.

We have taught our children to honor the flag of our reunited country. In the Spanish war we sent our sons and grandsons to follow the flag, that our forefathers filled with stars, and to which we now turn again with a stilled loyalty. Best of all, we restored our beloved land as an integral living part to the union of our fathers. With us now all passion and bitterness has passed away. We are looking only to all that is sweetest and best and tenderest in living. Our lives have been prolonged to see our country recovered from the ravages and effects of war, to see peace and good will even now almost supplant the passion and strife engendered in our lonely days, and again we are united to all of us to see that we have the esteem and honor and love of our descendants.

We go to our graves feeling that we were right. It is true, we failed in our main and great principle fought for. Superior numbers and resources under the wisdom of an overruling Providence defeat against us. Yet we are sure we did our duty. "And it is our duty to the end to preserve unimpaired the treasures of our devoted patriotism, our unshaken faith, and our unalterable belief in the sacredness and justice of our cause." One thing certain no true Confederate soldier has ever hung his head before any man being because of his conduct. We have through our lives and under every condition, maintained our self-respect, and in our old age now, we see we have the respect not only of those who fought against us, but of the whole world.

Second Day of Reunion.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—The second day's session of the reunion of the main body of United Confederate Veterans began at 10 o'clock this morning in the Confederate Hall at Fifth and Water street. After the various forms of entertainment of last evening the veterans were somewhat slow in assembling and the building was not more than one-third full when Gen. Stephen D. Lee arrived. The crowd gathered fast, however, although a number of the veterans said that the ball last night was as fatiguing as thirty miles of marching during the war.

In opening the meeting Gen. Lee said: "My comrades, I do not know any body of men of whom God has been kinder than the Confederate soldiers. I therefore ask everyone to stand while prayer is delivered by the Rev. Dr. James Smith, of Richmond."

The Month of June.

June is the month when roses bloom and when we meet the bride and groom; the month when young corn grows, and barefoot urchins snag their toes; the month in which the fishes shoal, and Johnnie haunts the swimming hole. He may deny and cause a doubt, but, ah, his shirt is wrong-side out! The horsefly comes and stings till fall and punctures the kitchen wall; the June bug tells you he is here and dabs you on the other ear; the moth nests in your winter clothes and insects gambol up your nose. The picnic season is at hand and the Sunday-school engages the band; the maid dons a thin shirt waist and shocks her mother with her taste. The housewife makes gooseberry pie that's full of juice and bacilli.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system, overcomes and cures indigestion, dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, etc. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease—Dyspepsia—is destined to eventually work a wonderful and lasting benefit to sufferers from this distressing and mind harassing condition. Sold by All Druggists.

The Old Confederate.

On Wednesday, June 14, the first day of the Confederate Reunion in Louisville, the following editorial appeared in the Louisville Herald:

"Louisville has received within her gates many very welcome guests; but the Confederate veteran has taken our city's heart as never did a visitor before. He had just to say he was going to come to conquer. He came, and he found a city with keys in its hands for him to have and to hold as long as he would. He is proving every hour of his stay worthy all the attention and hospitality that can be shown on him. He is the brave, manly, self-reliant, self-respecting man he has ever been figured and found. He is a soldier—an American soldier—every inch. He has the heart, the courage, the goodness and the tenacity of Southern breeding. He is a noble, of course. He loves his old comrades who wore the gray and followed the 'Stars and Bars' in the fiercest conflict. He loves the brave men who fought against him. He has accepted the issue that the war determined in the way the war decided. He would not have, could he have it again, the slave holding of ante-bellum times. He believes still in States' rights, not in conflict with national union and indivisibility. He believes in popular sovereignty and in clean government. He is a citizen of the right kind—tried, true, trustworthy and trusted. The Confederate soldier is, in every community, a man of influence. He commands respect. Every one knows that he came home after the war penniless, hungry, and in many cases almost naked. But he set to work to upbuild a new home and carve out a new career. See what he has done. He is a leader wherever he goes. He is a legislator of eminence, a statesman of national renown, a lawyer, preacher, medical man, banker, manufacturer or plain voter, successful in every respect. If he holds no office in his community it is because he does not want office. He is everywhere an agency of good.

"God bless the old Confederate! May he long abide with us. He is typical of the best that America ever produced in citizenship or manhood."

Fate of the Short Tooter.

A friend of the Bonanza, Texas. News sends in the following pithy paragraph, which has fully as much sense as poetry in it.

If you took your little tooter and lay aside your little horn, there's not a soul in ten short days will know that you were born. The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who plows all day and the man who makes a bumping is the man who makes it pay. The man who advertises with short and sudden jerks, is the man who blames the editor because it never works. The man who gets the business has a long and steady plow, and keeps his trade and paper from year to year quite full. He plans his advertisement in thoughtful, honest way, and keeps forever at it until he makes it pay. He has faith in all the future, can withstand a bankrupt shock, and like a man of Scripture, has his business on a rock.

More Double Track

Writing in The Raleigh Post of yesterday, Mr. J. C. Caddell foresees the time when trains running between Greensboro and Charlotte will dash through a continuous city, and says that the next ninety-nine year lease of the North Carolina Railroad by the Southern will call for four tracks instead of one. So, indeed, it will; and this reminds us of the agreeable statement in the Washington correspondence of The Post of yesterday that a force of hands will to-morrow begin grading on the double track between Greensboro and High Point. It is a continuing wonder how the Southern Railway contrives to handle so many trains, passenger and freight, on a single track, between Greensboro and Charlotte, with so few accidents, and a continuing cause of congratulation to the alert and clear-headed train dispatchers. The Southern is a great system, the most effective developer of the South, and it has not undertaken its double-tracking policy too early. Think of the volume of its traffic, even twenty-five years from now.—Charlotte Observer.
